Teachers, young and old, new and established should be given the time to develop; to share and to train in order to meet the needs of an evolving audience. This should not be left to those joining the profession, nor those 'on a course' or on some sort of 'leadership pathway'. Training and good quality development should be available to all. It is time we grasped this opportunity with both hands and put back into the workforce what we expend every day in classrooms across the country. It is time, time for us to take a stance. Stand up and be counted. We want to our profession back. Ross Morrison McGill can be found on Twitter @TeacherToolkit and www.TeacherToolkit.me.
