2018 could be a record-breaking year for corporate consolidation, with merger and acquisition deals worth a total of $3.3 trillion already made. More: Fortune 500 companies list: 1 out of 3 are located in just six major cities. More: CEO compensation and worker pay: 50 companies that owe their employees a raise. More: Did your employer make the list of best US companies to work for? The largest deals of 2018 include the acquisition of a soft drink company, a major consolidation in the wireless communications industry, and a merger between a health insurance juggernaut and pharmaceutical distribution company. Some of this year's deals rank among the largest of all time by total value.
