What wonderful revelations are brought to the surface of truth. Praying for your ministry. In Him There is only "dead faith with empty works" or "faith reflected in good works." The truth is you can never be perfect and, therefore, justified by "good works." You have broken the Law and will do so inevitably in the future. That was also the point of James saying faith without good works is dead because faith should wind up leading to a transformed heart and a transformed heart should want to finally do "good works." Rather, I think the message was she did not HAVE to sin anymore to earn something or crave something in her life in belief that God and His Son who was ironically right there that day could not give her.
