The key of David has already opened a door and that door stands open What is it that makes evangelism so difficult for most Christians?
And where you find numerical growth, you are more likely to find that the growth is transfer of Christians from one church to another. That’s not evangelism. That’s sheep shuffling. Pastors and other leaders must fall on their faces before God and ask Him to reignite their congregations with an evangelistic passion. When evangelism dies as a priority in the church, the church has already begun to die. So why should evangelism be one of the highest priorities in your church? Though the reasons are many, allow me to share seven of them. Because Christ commanded it. But there are many other places in the New Testament where the priority of evangelism is clearly evident. Christ commanded it. We must do it. But regardless of where you’re from, these colloquial expressions are helpful in providing us with the second-person plural. Acts 1:8, a verse often quoted with regard to witnessing, shares the you-plural concept: But [y’all] will receive power when the Holy Spirit comes on [y’all]; and [y’all] will be my witnesses in Jerusalem, and in all Judea and Samaria, and to the ends of the earth. In a culture that’s increasingly isolated and disconnected, communal evangelism has unprecedented potential to draw in the individual. Partnerships, not personality, produce effectiveness in the long run. Communal witness involves authentic and intentional friendships.
