At first everything would sound strange and unfamiliar. But then after a while, it would begin to grow on me, like music which you don't like at first, sometimes does. And then I would begin to notice patterns and recognize words until I could participate in making the same music myself. Ever since those early experiences, music and language are one and the same to me. And now after years of living abroad, I'm home again. My father has just gone to my school because I'm failing Spanish. He can't understand how I could pick up Swahili, Russian, Chinese, and Arabic, but can&a By replacing textbooks with tablets more students will turn in homework on time. They could email homework to teachers or teachers could email the students work of what they miss that day. Students also wouldn't have the excuse of "I forgot my homework at home." Unless students left their tablets at home, but most likely they wouldn't forget their tablets, because its important to them and its the only thing they'd need to carry around with them. The heavy, lagging weight of a backpack often causes long-term health issues and back pain for students.
