China's Communist Party imposed a system of collective leadership after the death of Mao, scarred by the madness, cruelty and famine the one man had imposed through the disasters of the Great Leap Forward and the Cultural Revolution. As a result, Xi's two predecessors Jiang Zemin and Hu Jintao ruled through consensus as the "first among equals" at the top of the ladder and were limited to two terms in power. Xi's message is one of a nationalist, assertive China, one that he says will not threaten the world, but will resolutely defend its interests. "By the middle of this century or before, China aims to close the gap economically and militarily with the United States, and become the ultimate arbiter in the Asia-Pacific region," said Lam. The name Pantheon refers to the building's original function as a temple for all the gods. With its thick brick walls and large marble columns, the Pantheon makes an immediate impression on visitors. But the most remarkable part of the building is the more than forty-three meter high dome. It was the largest dome in the world until 1436 when the Florence Cathedral was constructed. At the top of the dome is a large opening, the oculus, which was the only source of light. The front portico has three rows of columns; the first row has eight columns while the other two have four each. A huge bronze door gives access to the cylindrical building. Chinese inventions not only contribute to this culture, but even define the world we live in today. What cannot be questioned, though, is that the invention of paper greatly spread the written word across China and the world. In fact, it was the development of paper that allowed the Chinese to develop printing using wood blocks. This made it easy to create standard texts, thus easing the dissemination of important information. Then, what is invention? Communists, (so what?) can provide daily needs for whole world (check your house if you have one still and your kitchen such as your air conditioning, 80%, iPhones, 70% and your shoes 60% made in China for whole world. Then you would say Oh, my, these are not inventions either, but reality--you are breathing by communists
