Skull is the skeleton of the head consisting of the cranium and mandible. It encloses the brain and supports the face. Total number of bones in the skull is 22, as is discussed in detail below. Cranial part of the skull is composed of several separate bones united at immobile joints called sutures, which are held by sutural ligaments. Contrary to this, the mandible is united to the cranium by a mobile synovial joint called the temporomandibular joint. Structure of skull bones: Skull bones are made up of external and internal tables of compact bone separated by a layer of spongy bone called the diploë.
