Blwyddyn / Year

Adroddiad Blynnyddol / Annual Report 1970-71

Disgrifiad / Description

Papers from the library of the donor's uncle, Alfred John George (1879-1956), a native of Bootle, and Baptist minister successively at Llanberis and Llanrug, 1909-24, and at Llithfaen and Tyddynsiôn, 1924-56. The group consists largely of letters, over 1,200 in number, addressed to A. J. George, often with draft or copy replies. The principal correspondent is his brother William George, Bootle, who describes incidents in the religious and public life of Liverpool (e.g. the General Election, 1910, the Railway Strike, 1911, the opening of the Mersey Tunnel, 1934, losses by enemy action during World War II) and discusses a variety of business matters of family interest (e.g. the tenancy of properties owned in Beaumaris). There are many personal letters also from his father, Isaac George, from other relatives and from acquaintances in Liverpool and elsewhere, and from members of his churches, the latter often resident far afield. Letters of a more professional nature, deriving from his pastoral, social, and academic activities, deal with such subjects as the appeal on behalf of the proposed new Baptist Chapel at Balliol Road Bootle, 1897-9, his application for the chair of Greek and New Testament Studies at the Baptist College, Bangor, 1923, the restoration of Tabor Baptist Chapel, Llithfaen, 1932, and the Bangor Baptist College Appeal Fund, 1949-51, and the writers include Ellis Davies, M.P., Caernarvon, T. Witton Davies, Bangor, Frank Evans, Porth, J. T. Evans, Baptist College, Bangor, Walter J. Evans, Presbyterian College, Carmarthen, William Evans, Porth, D. Lloyd George, T. Rowland Hughes, novelist (a member of A JG.'s church at Llanberis), John Jenkins ('Gwili'), E. K. Jones, Baptist minister, Acrefair, E. T. Jones, Baptist minister, Llanelli, R. T. Llwydwyn Jones, Aintree, Waldo Lewis, Baptist minister, Carmarthen, Herbert Morgan, Aberystwyth, Gilbert Murray, Oxford, M. B. Owen, Presbyterian College, Carmarthen, D. E. Williams, Baptist minister, Blaina, Peter Williams ('Pedr Hir'), Baptist minister, Bootle, etc.

Supplementing the letters is a small group of miscellaneous material, including a few volumes of sermons and sermon notes; reports, with correspondence, in connection with his appointment as Special Minister in North Wales under the Dr. Williams Trust; and personalia such as school reports and examination certificates, etc.

The letters formed the subject of a lecture delivered by Rev Ieuan Jenkins at the annual meeting of the Welsh Baptist Historical Society at Llwynhendy, 25 August 1970, and Mr. Jenkins has added copious annotations to the collection which, especially in the case of local correspondence, considerably helps to establish both the identity of the writers and the context of the letters.

Papers of Thomas Melinddwr Davies of Llansawel, co. Carmarthen, the donor's grandfather, who died in 1912 (NLW MSS 20562-3E, 20564-5B). Apart from accounts, 1880-9 (NLW MS 20562E), relating to his trade as weaver, they consist almost entirely of his literary works. Some of the poetical compositions were sent to national eisteddfodau, and they include drafts of the winning series of englynion on 'Llais Cydwybod' at the Aberdare National Eisteddfod in 1885, and an ode on 'Gobaith' and four stanzas ('hir a thoddaid') on 'Cymydog' for the Caernarfon National Eisteddfod in 1886 (NLW MSS 20563E, 20564B). The greater part were, however, composed for local meetings, but it is noteworthy that several poems were sent to eisteddfodau in the Rhondda. Most are on religious or Biblical themes or commemorating local events such as the deaths of important personalities. Two notebooks containing a collection of the poet's works are called 'Perllan y Bardd' (NLW MS 20565B).

A pedigree roll, 1608, on five membranes, showing fifteen generations of the ancestors of Richard Mytton of Halston, co. Salop, and his wife, Margaret, daughter of Thomas Owen, judge of the Common Pleas (NLW Rolls 248). The pedigree is decorated with large shields of arms for Richard Mytton and his wife and smaller shields, all in colours, for each of the ancestors, whose names are written in blue roundels. The roll is unsigned, but is undoubtedly the work of Rhys Cain, the herald poet. A membrane added about 1700 continues the pedigree through Thomas Mytton, the parliamentarian, son of Richard and Margaret, down to Richard Mytton of Halston, the grandson of Thomas, and his wife. The roll had until its sale been in the possession of descendants of John Mytton of Halston, the famous sportsman.

The letters consist in the main of progress reports on building and construction work at Wenvoe Castle and at the Red House, Cardiff (identified by J. Hobson Mathews in Cardiff Records as the Angel Inn). There are interesting details on the acquisition of materials and the difficulties of labour supply, and also a few small plans. There is also a reference to reports prevalent in the neighbourhood that Birt had not been born a gentleman, with a suggestion that the departure of the Thomas family was resented locally. Besides these letters, the volume contains a posting bill for travelling from Cardiff to Reading in 1790, and an extract taken from the Memorials of William Thomas concerning Sir Edmund Thomas, bart., M.P. for Glamorgan from 1761 till his death in 1767.

Disgrifiad / Description

A supplementary group of manuscript material, printed books, and engraved portraits relating to the Owen family of Glansevern, co. Montgomery, and the allied families of Jones, Johnes, and Humphreys-Owen.

The manuscript material consists mainly of personalia and letters, the most substantial group comprising over 1,200 letters, 1878-9, 1881-1905, from A. C. Humphreys Owen (M.P. for Montgomery, 1894-1905) to his wife. There are only about thirty letters before 1884, but thereafter they become much more frequent and contain detailed reports and comments on the writer's activities mainly in connection with political and educational matters. There are a few items relating to most members of the Owen and related families from the late eighteenth century onwards. The depositor has considerably enhanced their value by providing explanatory information and details of family background.

The twenty-five volumes of printed books include, among others, Richard Bloome: Brittania (London, 1673); William Salmon: Botanologia (London, 1710); A description of all the cities & borough towns in England and Wales . . . with their arms & common seals . . . (London: Printed for Geo: Bickam [17-]); and Thomas Pennant: A tour in Wales (2 vols. London, 1784). Volume II of the latter contains manuscript additions and corrections on slips and sheets of paper which appear to be in the hand of the author. They were inserted, according to a note at the beginning of the volume, dated at Calcutta 27 October 1788, by Robert Chambers, who received them as waste paper used in packing books sent to him from England.
